Africa's Development

When we talk about Africa's development, what exactly do we mean?

Can African engineers build roads and bridges?

Can African engineers manufacture industrial hardware?

Can African businessmen invest in youngsters who create toy airplanes, trucks, cars, etc.?

Can African investors mass-produce the small inventions coming out of African universities and local talents?

IIAS Role in Africa's Development

IIAS members span across all educational fields. They transcend professional domains with unfathomable cumulative consulting hours. Many of The Institute's members are veteran university teachers raising a ready workforce to move the continent into new heights.

Emmanuel University Faculty Training Program

(1) One-Year Post-Doctoral Certificate in Education (Online Teaching). (2) One-Year Post-Master's Certificate in Education (Online Teaching).

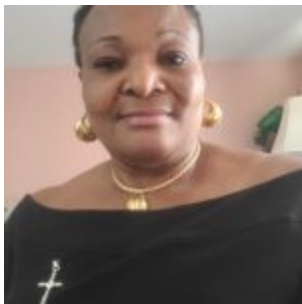

Emmanuel University is offering its one-year certification in Education specializing in Online Teaching. The class in view starts in October 2023. The purpose of the program is to equip individuals with the skill of teaching online for universities. Doctorate and master's degree holders have already specialized in their respective academic or scholastic disciplines. Some of them want to pursue teaching jobs but lack an exposure to the field of Education. Since they already know their content areas, they only need a strong skill in delivering learning via diverse LMS. Enrolled student-teachers are deployed to existing bachelor's degree classrooms to do their teaching practice from Day 1 to the end of the program.

IIAS was established in June 2013 to serve doctoral and other social science researchers. Since then, it has helped several scholars across the globe. It collaborates with other entities such as the Journal of Functional Education, Global Peace Missions (NGO), Emmanuel University, and Center for Academic Research and Educational Sustainability among others. Through the instrumentality of these collaborating entities, Fellows of IIAS have found platforms to express their talents and global presence.

AFRICAN ORIENTATION COUNCIL

Are You A Scholar?

IIAS sits on huge opportunities through AOC 's proposed actionable programs. The AOC is a robust platform for synergy among IIAS members as well as between IIAS and relevant State and non-State actors. The programs hold benefits for members, IIAS, and Africa. In addition, members will advance the body of knowledge through the publication of products in scholarly journals, academic magazines, and contemporary outlets.

Each team leader is to contact team members and call for a meeting.

- 1) Teams are allowed to co-opt more members if necessary.
- 2) Each team is to study the team's theme and guidelines for implementation, and ensure that each member contributes meaningfully.
- 3) Depending on the strategy chosen by the team, the issue of logistics and funding should be extensively discussed.
- 4) Simulate the actual program and produce appropriate materials such as PowerPoint Presentations, Spreadsheets, Word, etc.

- 5) Share your information with the Coordinator of AOC who Listened to African Advocates Lately?

African advocates are churning out videos upon videos, lamenting the plight of the continent and its dwellers.

Who among them have you listened to?

What resonates with you among the things they say?

You, sure, know Professor P. L.O. Lumumba's Leadership channel on YouTube.

You, sure, know Her Excellency, Dr. Arikana Chihombori-Quao's channel on YouTube.

You, sure, know Professor Frederick Nwosu's Leadership channel on YouTube.

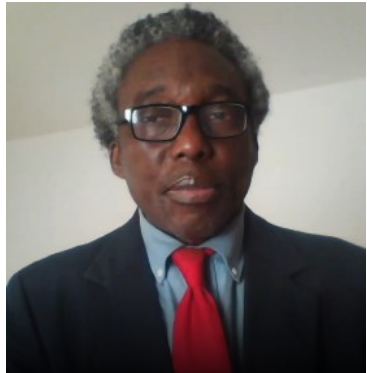

You, sure, know Comrade Julius Malema's Leadership channel on YouTube.

Where is your YouTube channel for African Leadership?

Did you know that some forces are making sure Africans are divided?

Are you falling for those narratives?

The above are just a few of the voices in the wilderness.

Let's hear your voice too.
Africa needs it!

1884/85 Reloading?

Africa has become the hornet's nest.
Someone has stirred it!!!!
Everyone is now listening!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Africa, the cynosure of all eyes is again in the eye of the storm after 1884-1995. Just when everyone thought that African leaders were sleeping (literally sleeping; physically sleeping), neo-Africanists in full fatigue began to draw attention to themselves. Reports began to filter in that governments were being changed from one country to another. The spate that was observed took place among French-speaking African countries. Could this be a pattern or a sign of things to come?

Innumerable theories are flying around. Some Africans believe that depopulation agents are at work. Other African theorists believe that some African rulers (yes, RULERS) who are afraid of coup in their respective domains are gearing up to stop the coup plotters. Overall, it appears that youths across Africa are fast losing patience with their president sand prime ministers who they are beginning to label neo-colonialists. These developments are going to be left in the hands of 'time'. Do we loosely label African youths 'restive'? Are they right to discount their rock of ages, ancient of days, stone age pilots? Is Africa now ripe for the youth to govern? Youths were told that they were LEADERS OF TOMORROW. Tomorrow is here.

The International Institute for African Scholars is made up of the cream of African brains. The caliber of people at The Institute is a clear indication that the continent of Africa has more than the world credits it with. If there are any deficiencies, IIAS can boldly say that such deficiencies are sponsored. Some can label this statement 'conspiracy theory', but we must all note that there is no smoke without a fire. The only way to know if a person can execute on a project is to give the person a responsibility. Africa has all it takes to solve its problems. Any dissenters should stand aside and watch Africans. There might be obstacles hindering the success of the continent, but a careful look at each obstacle shows that external factors are working against the success factors. IIAS is challenging any 'player' to watch Africa rather than interfere.
